

James W. Sheaffer

Mr. Sheaffer is president of the North American Public Sector (NPS). With annual revenue exceeding $6B and 29,000 employees, NPS provides solutions and services to support the missions of agencies of the United States and Canadian governments worldwide. From 2003-05, he served as vice president and manager for CSC's business area serving the United States Department of Treasury, including the Internal Revenue Service (IRS).

Prior to joining CSC, Mr. Sheaffer spent 27 years with American Management Systems Inc. (AMS). As a senior vice president from 1998-2002, he served as chief operating officer for AMS's telecommunications industry practice in North America and Europe and led the company's entry into the Asia Pacific and Latin American regions. From 1990-98, as European general manager, he created and built AMS's business with financial services and telecommunications clients, operating from 14 offices in 11 European countries.

Before his European assignment, Mr. Sheaffer established and led AMS's information technology consulting and services practice with the United States Department of Defense serving clients in all four uniformed services.

Mr. Sheaffer earned a BS degree in economics from the Wharton School at the University of Pennsylvania and an MBA degree from the University of Chicago. He served as an officer in the United States Navy. He serves on the board of directors for the Intelligence and National Security Alliance (INSA), the Northern Virginia Technology Council (NVTC) and the executive board of the Professional Services Council (PSC).
